Attention Restaurateurs!

Contributed by Don Sampson
Monday, 20 August 2007

Chisme Posting Lunch Specials Again!

We used to post lunch specials for the local restaurants in our forum section. We have had some new restaurants open and some that have remodeled or changed management.

We have had some requests from our readers and restaurants to supply this information again. I know you guys are busy running your restaurants and some of you may not have the time to post your specials. In order to supply this service to our readers we will post your specials for you.

Our Editor has assigned this task to our Photo Editor and Forum Administrator, Don Gato. That's me. If you are capable of planning your specials a week in advance you can email them to me on Saturday or Sunday and I will see that they get posted in our new "Whats for Lunch" category. Email me at sampsondon48@yahoo.com .

If you do not have a computer or are not capable of sending an email you can call me. My phone number is 5765-8586. I prefer email for accuracy. I cannot guarantee the accuracy of the information if given in Spanish. I do pretty good face to face with my Spanish but the telephone is real hard for me.

This is a free service for our readers and it should bring in some customers to the restaurants that participate. So come on Restaurant Guys jump on the lunchwagon and send me your specials. Our readers want to know.